Journalist

Vermont Public Radio / Reporter / Producer / Host

OCTOBER 2007 - JULY 2020 - COLCHESTER, VERMONT

I contributed to VPR as a broadcast and digital reporter and news photographer. I produced the flagship news programs Morning Edition and All Things Considered. I created, curated and hosted six seasons of Dorothy's List, VPR's "book club for kids." In 2019, as an EWA Reporting Fellow, I reported and produced Syllabus for Survival, a deep dive into the stability of Vermont's colleges and universities. I also reported stories for NPR and worked with national podcasts including This American Life and Peace Talks Radio.

The Stowe Reporter / Snow Sports Reporter & Editor

NOVEMBER 2011 - APRIL 2014 - STOWE, VERMONT

As a reporter and photographer, for three seasons, I covered snow sports including competitive downhill skiing, snowboarding and Nordic skiing for this weekly ski town paper. In 2013, for my third season, I was named Snow Sports Editor, in charge of all snow sports related content, including editing weekly commentaries and submissions.

Wolcott Town Report / Official Photojournalist

2004 - 2011 - WOLCOTT, VERMONT

My photographs appeared on the cover and throughout this bound annual town report, sent to every resident.

News & Citizen / Sr. Reporter/ Photographer / Arts & Living Editor

MARCH 1995 - APRIL 2010 - MORRISVILLE, VERMONT

I started as a reporter and photographer and worked my way up to senior reporter/photographer and editor of Arts & Living content for two weekly papers, News & Citizen and The Transcript. I wrote local news stories and columns for N&C, covering several award-winning stories. My cover stories for The Transcript included award-winning features, poetry and children's fiction.

WVMX-FM / News Director

1991 - 1993 - STOWE, VERMONT

I was half of a morning show duo, delivering newscasts every half-hour. I was in charge of the station's overall news content, including managing the afternoon and weekend newscasters.
